“ I first met Patsy as a Freshman at Maupin High School and graduated from High School with her. She always seemed happy and friendly. Unfortunately I never knew where she had moved to or what her last name might have become after marriage. I finally found her in Redmond when we were getting ready for our 50th high school reunion. We exchanged e-mails until her recent illness and I hope some of the information I was able to supply her with about her classmates brought some happiness to her during the last three years. She will be missed.
